Falls on Takeoff At Spokane Today; Two Survive Fire Following Wreck

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A giant, 10-engine B-36 bomber, altered and fell on takeoff at Fairchild Air Force Base today, killing 15 of the 17 men aboard.

The huge aircraft, world's largest bomber, crashed through a fence at the end of the runway and burst into flames in a farmer's wheat field, leaving bits of wreckage in its wake.

Two men survived. They were seriously burned and suffering from shock. They were unable to speak to investigators.

Force Tears Up Plane

The B-36 hit with terrific force and pieces fell off as it bounced along the ground. It stopped in the edge of farmer Ernest Alf's wheat field and burned fiercely.

"We were awakened by this awful crash and as we got out of bed all we could see was a big fire," Alf said.

Fire trucks from the nearby community of Medical Lake raced across the wheat land to fight the flames.

"The crash made an awful explosion," Alf said. "It lit up the room like it was daylight. It looked like it was only a block away but it was a half mile."

The B-36 with its huge swept back wing was virtually a shell in minutes.

"It was flat in a little while," Alf said.

The 3½ million dollar bomber was taking off on a routine training flight from Fairchild, 10 miles west of here.

Military policemen raced to the scene and threw a guard around the plane. They picked up papers and covered bodies of the victims.

The bright red flames attracted scores of farmers who could see the sky light up for miles around.

Fairchild said it couldn't confirm Alf's report that the B-36 blew up. Air Force officials said they were unable to determine the cause of the crash immediately.

The B-36 carries 21,000 gallons of gasoline and has a range of 10,000 miles with its four jet and six piston engines. Little was left of the one that broke into pieces here today.

Fairchild said the plane got off the ground but faltered and ripped through the fence at 5:45 a. m. (CST).

The big bombers have been stationed here since last summer. One crashed and burned last January while coming in for a landing. The crew escaped serious injury.

Crew Trough Fence

Fairchild recorded its first B-36 fatality last week when a flight engineer plunged to earth while checking a wheel well before landing. His parachute opened accidentally and pulled him out.

Names of the victims were not immediately available pending notification of next of kin.

The B-36 normally carries a crew of 15 but this one had two extra men aboard.

Sheldon Vaughan, Medical Lake fire chief, said: "The big tail wasn't even sticking up when I got there 45 minutes after the crash. Everything was gone."

Truman Believes UN Holds Hopes For World Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman believes the United Nations holds the hope for world peace. He has called on America's women to support its "untiring effort" toward that goal.

"That is why," he wrote in a letter read at the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) Continental Congress last night, "the United States has endorsed wholeheartedly the untiring efforts of the United Nations to secure world peace. It is why your sons and husbands are stopping Communist aggression in Korea—and why the United States is assisting other nations threatened by Communism to strengthen their military and economic positions."

Truman's letter, dated March 15, said the price to preserve freedom is high but we feel the rewards are far more valuable.

Another speaker at the opening session of the 81st meeting of the DAR was Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, who said America must be armed first and universal military training is the way to do it.

"Arming the free nations of Europe and Asia and all of the rest of the world may prove helpful but in the final showdown it will be American might which will be our only sure defense," he said.

Mrs. James B. Patton of Columbus, Ohio, DAR general president, suggested a survey board be set up from the three branches of government to help chart America's course in world affairs.

RFC Adds Flood Areas As Disastrous Sections

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation today declared Minnesota and Wisconsin disaster areas and added new sections of North and South Dakota to its disaster area list.

The action opens the way for victims of spring floods in the stricken areas to draw from an RFC relief fund of about $8 million dollars which is available for lending to flood victims.

Sedalia Phone Operators Remaining Off Jobs Today

New Jersey Settles Its Phone Dispute

Three Walkouts Now Are Brought to End; Others Tie Lines

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's strike-tangled communications wires were unravelling today with the settlement of a New Jersey telephone dispute bringing to three the number of walkouts ended.

But three other wire strikes still were unsettled, and one of these—against the Western Electric Company—could nullify the effects of the three settlements by keeping phone workers from their jobs.

A contract agreement providing a $4-a-week pay increase and fringe benefits was reached early today at Newark, N. J., between the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and 10,000 striking operators, members of the CIO Communications Workers of America.

Ohio Bell Telephone Company workers ended their strike yesterday after obtaining pay boosts of $4-to-$7-a-week, similar to increases granted Michigan telephone workers last week.

Federal mediators are working in New York to settle the strike of 16,000 CIO-CWA members against Western Electric, the Bell system's manufacturing subsidiary.

The Western Electric strikers, by using picket lines, have threatened to keep phone service disrupted in Ohio, New Jersey, Michigan and 40 other states. The union claims that hundreds of thousands of phone workers would stay away from their jobs if all exchanges were picketed.

However, the picketing never has been general.

A fifth telephone wage battle involves the Bell system's affiliate in the Northern California-Nevada area, where the union claims 7,000 are striking.

The CIO-CWA represents the workers in the Western Electric and four telephone company disputes, but each of the five American Telephone & Telegraph Company subsidiaries has a separate contract. The union said there was a total of 67,000 strikers when the walkout started simultaneously a week ago yesterday.

In the other deadlocked communications strike, some 30,000 AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers, Union members are asking wage increases from the Western Union Company. This dispute went into its 13th day today with no settlement in sight.

Over the weekend, federal mediators in New York seemed hopeful of a settlement in the Western Electric dispute; but late yesterday they gave up hopes for an immediate joint meeting between the two sides. The mediators said both were holding firm.

In Topeka, Kan., Southwestern Bell Telephone Company got a temporary injunction barring Western Electric pickets from interfering with phone service in Kansas.

The phone strikes chiefly have affected long distance service, but not local dial systems. A. T. & T. says there have been some delays but that service has been maintained at almost normal. Supervisory personnel has been used in some places.

The union is asking Western Electric for wage boosts of 23 cents an hour, and the company has offered 10 to 16 cents. The union says present wages average between $1.64 and $1.77.

In the state phone disputes, it was explained that the increases granted in New Jersey varied from those in Ohio and Michigan because the New Jersey settlement involved only operators. The Ohio and Michigan pacts covered other company employees as well.

New Jersey operators earned $38 to $36 a week under the old pact. The other states had similar wage scales.

Bill Hammond Wins Optimists' Oratory Contest

The annual Junior Optimist boys' oratorical contest, held Monday noon at the regular meeting of the Sedalia Optimist Club at Bothwell Hotel, was won by Bill Hammond and Jack Isgur placing second.

The contestants were introduced by Harold Barrick, who has been in charge of the oratorical training the past year. Judges were William F. Brown, James Durley and Scott Webber.

The subject assigned by Optimist International was "Optimism or Courageous Living." Bill Hammond, 15, will represent the Sedalia Optimist Club as its entry at the 10th district contest to be held in Kansas City, Kan., in connection with the annual convention of the 10th district, Optimist International. He will compete in this contest against boys from Optimist Clubs in Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri.

The winner of the contest in Kansas City will then represent the 10th district in Louisville, Ky., at the international convention in June.

The meeting was presided over by Ed G. Ringen.

Supervisory Personnel Forced to Go On Urgency Basis Today After Long Hours of Service for Past Two Days

Telephone service in Sedalia today was on an urgency basis part of the time, but otherwise was being maintained as best as possible with supervisory personnel continuing to man the switchboards in shifts of from 12 to 16 hours per man or woman.

Operators were still off duty after having refused to cross a Western Electric union picket line Sunday and then, after the picket line was removed, refused to go back to work while supervisors were still on the switchboards.

A limited staff of supervisory personnel continued to give service to the best of its ability. After long hours of unfamiliar work Sunday and Monday, during which they gave near-normal service, the workers began to tire Tuesday morning, when the switchboards lighted up so speedily the lights burned out fuses, the staff had to go on an urgency basis only, turning down some callers and handling the emergency calls.

Z. Lyle Brown, district manager and the man in charge of the group on the job, said:

"In the interest of public health, wealth and safety, supervisory personnel, which had manned the switchboards, was forced to handle urgent calls only beginning at 10 a. m. today."

"At Kansas City, St. Joseph and many other cities of Missouri, as well as all Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas, employees of the telephone company have apparently recognized that they should return to the switchboards and to their telephone jobs. They apparently feel justified in this where no picket line exists, for they are doing just that. In some cities of Missouri, the meeting was adjourned at 9 a. m. to reconvene at 8 p. m. tonight at which time International Representative Marvin Collins of the CWA-CIO in St. Louis, will be present."

John Davison, president of the Sedalia local, said this morning the International Representative is coming here to discuss the local and national telephone situations.

President Davison also said he expected all members to be present at this meeting, which is to be held at the Bothwell Hotel.

Jersey Voters Balloting

'Anything Can Happen' at Polls Today; Ike Favored, Taft Could Be Close

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Lowering skies and definitely unpropitious weather contributed to light early voting today as industrial New Jersey registered its choice for the Republican presidential nomination.

Showers and even cooler temperatures were forecast for the day.

Although Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was established a favorite in today's primary, Arthur Vandenberg Jr., deputy director of the general's national campaign, sounded a cautious note in the contest here with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

"Anything can happen," Vandenberg told this reporter. "I think Gen. Eisenhower is going to win, but I don't know if he will win by 50,000 or 200,000 votes. And it would not surprise me to see Taft get three delegates or nine delegates."

Vandenberg spoke primarily of the Republican ballot's "beauty contest," the preferential poll which Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll has said should influence the state's 38 GOP convention delegates in voting at Chicago in July on the presidential nomination.

This contest also has former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota as an added starter. But Stassen has been so badly shellacked elsewhere by both Taft and Eisenhower that he is not counted a serious contender.

The Republicans elect 10 delegates at large and 28 in districts. Taft supporters are contesting for seven district posts and two at large, in addition to any "independent" candidates who might back him if they were elected.

This if Eisenhower proves to be as much of a front runner as a state newspaper survey forecast, at best he might get 38 delegates and at worst 29—unless Stassen or the independents pull a surprise.

Even the 38 would leave Eisenhower behind Taft in elected Chicago delegates. Taft now has 201 to the general's 88.

Taft, who tried to withdraw his name from the ballot and has not campaigned in New Jersey, already has cushioned an expected defeat by Eisenhower. If he makes a strong showing in the preferential (popularity) poll and gets some delegates, he could claim a victory of sorts.

The Republican battle—first on-the-battlefield meeting of the two major presidential contenders since Eisenhower won in New Hampshire March 11—far overshadows interest in a Democratic presidential poll and selection of that party's 32-vote convention delegation.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the rambling Tennesseean, is the only Democratic candidate on the preferential list. But he may not get the 32 convention votes because Archibald Alexander, former under secretary of the Army, already has declared for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Alexander heads an unopposed slate of eight Democratic delegates at large and also is assured of a major nomination in today's vote to oppose Republican Sen. H. Alexander Smith, or Smith's primary opponent, for the Senate in the November election. Carl Ring, Rutherford attorney is opposing Smith in the primary.

The pre-primary campaign wound up last night in a blaze of charges.

Driscoll, accused by Taft of having come out for Eisenhower, said in a radio address he thinks Taft "has been such a good member of the United States Senate I believe perhaps that is where he should stay."

Charles Edison, Democratic former governor supporting Taft, urged voters to scratch Driscoll at large. He asserted the governor "has proved himself unworthy" by deserting his neutrality role in the presidential contest.

State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, an Eisenhower leader, decried attacks on Driscoll. Forbes predicted Eisenhower will have a "substantial" majority in the popularity poll if the vote goes over 70,000 and will get 36 of the 38 registered voters.

At Willimantic, Conn., Taft said he hasn't the "faintest idea" how the balloting will come out.

"When I got out of New Jersey, I really got out," he declared.

The action began as the result of three unions' strike against the New York Central Lines, west of Buffalo and the St. Louis Terminal Lines. It involved about 6,000 strikers and resulted in layoffs for about 25,000 more.

Justice Department attorneys filed the action in behalf of the Army, which has been in technical control of the nation's rail lines since Aug. 27, 1950, when another strike was threatened.

Judge Freed's March 11 temporary order restrained the unions from continuing their strike, or spreading it to other lines. Today's preliminary injunction was the result of a hearing which will be followed by another on the question of a permanent injunction.

Judge Freed said he was prepared to expedite a final hearing. But there was no indication how long that might take.

The young son of former Sedalia, who was originally from Texas, entered school in a new town where the family moved from Sedalia. In the school were youngsters of all nationalities and the teacher was going around the room asking each what his or her nationality was. She was getting answers of German, Polish, English and many others when she came to the new boy, who showing the true Texas spirit, said proudly: "I'm a Texan."

When he went home and told his mother she laughed — "That's right, son," she said, "Texas is a country all its own." — H. L.

A man who lives way out in the southeast part of town had not been feeling very well so he went to the doctor. He walked the distance, which is 20 blocks or more, and he had never had his feet hurt him so bad.

The farther he walked, the worse they hurt and he just figured it must be due to his illness. The doctor gave him a checkup — some medicine and then he started back home. He walked all the 20 blocks, or so back with his feet just killing him all the way and firmly convinced it was caused by whatever illness he had.

"I never had my feet to hurt so bad," he told his wife, as he sat down in a chair and pulled off his shoes. He couldn't seem to see anything wrong with his feet and then he picked up one of his shoes to look it over and found the answer. There in the toe of his shoe was one of his socks all rolled up and in the other shoe he found the other sock.

Of course, he blamed his wife and she insisted she had nothing to do with it, but mad as he was, he was still glad that his foot ailment was caused by walking all the way to town and back in shoes with socks stuffed in the toes, instead of being some kind of disease that would give him permanent trouble. — H. The spring fever story has stirred up quite a lot of interest among the Democrat-Capital readers. Maybe it gave people a little scare for a few minutes, a long while depending on how they read the story.

One woman said she felt fine, so she was all set to go out and help nurse the victims of this terrible disease.

Another woman read part of it, called her sister and was all upset. The sister, who has been having a bit of trouble with her eyes, just read the headline of the story and got no further. The first woman was feeling ill, indeed. She knew she had the symptoms and was coming down with this terrifying disease that was spreading like wildfire over the community. She probably thought the end was near.

Her sister had said she did not read the article and did not know too much what she was talking about. Then in the afternoon, a daughter of the woman who had not read the story came in. She asked her mother if she had read it and finding out she hadn't, read it to her. The two had a big laugh over the April Fool story and then the light dawned — that was what the sister had been talking about. So she called her up to ask how she was feeling. The woman said her condition was no better.

"I am sure you've got that awful disease," she told her, and when she had stirred her up real good she told her to read the story again — the disease was still spring fever. — H. L.

Senator Russell May Consider Compromise On Civil Rights

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Senator Dick Russell of Georgia who has been more effective than any other southern Senator in blocking the Truman civil rights program, now gives indications that he has changed his mind — at least in part.

Now that Russell is a presidential candidate, friends say that he might be willing to compromise somewhat—though he would never accept a compulsory FEPC.

Tip-off on this possibility—and it's only in the preliminary stages—came when Senator McFarland of Arizona, the conscientious Democratic leader, began sounding out minority groups about a compromise. If such a compromise can be worked out satisfactory both to Negro leaders and moderate southerners, McFarland will bring it up in the Senate—with Russell's blessing.

Democrats Vs. Democrats
Pennsylvania Democrats don't want to stick their necks out publicly, but behind the scenes some of the top leaders are doing their best to block the confirmation of their fellow Democrat Judge Jim McGranery as Attorney General. Pittsburgh's Mayor David Lawrence, top Democratic leader of western Pennsylvania, let off a telephone blast to Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney against McGranery. So did ex-Senator Francis Myers of eastern Pennsylvania in a call to Senate friends on the judiciary committee.

Neither one wanted to be subpoenaed and forced to take a stand publicly, though they were glad to drop a few hints about McGranery's record to the newspapers. Interesting fact is that the once rock-ribbed Republican city of Philadelphia which hadn't had a Democratic mayor since shortly after the Civil War, last November elected one. It was the biggest clean-up of graft-ridden Philadelphia politics in years and a real triumph for clean government.

But the leaders of this new Democratic administration, Mayor Joe Clark and District Attorney Dick Dilworth, not only were not consulted by the White House regarding McGranery, but are vigorously opposed to him.

Yet McGranery is supposed to clean up the Justice Department! Tobin's Red Face
The Secretary of Labor is supposed to know more about labor unions than any other man in the cabinet; which was one reason handsome Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, former governor of Massachusetts, was invited to officiate at the preview of the new film "With These Hands."

The film is the history of dynamic David Dubinsky's International Ladies Garment Workers Union, which previously produced the Broadway musical hit "Pins and Needles." The ILGW is a rival of Jacob Potofsky's Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the latter making men's clothing and belonging to the CIO, while Dubinsky's Ladies Garment Workers make ladies' clothing and belong to the AFL.

A notable gathering of Senators and Congressmen, including Italian

Ambassador Tarchiani, gathered in the Interior Department auditorium when Secretary of Labor Tobin rose to tell about the new ILGW film.

"This film," said the Secretary of Labor, "is in honor of a great union which has done so much for the working people, so much for trade unionism, so much for the American people—the Amalgamated Clothing Workers."

Bill Green, president of the AFL, looked horrified. Ambassador Tarchiani looked uncomfortable. David Dubinsky whose union should have been named, was about the only one who remained impassive. A murmur ran through the audience. But the Secretary of Labor kept blithely on.

Boss Crump of Memphis is seriously considering ditching 85-year-old Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee for re-election. Crump thinks it would be difficult for the Democrats to win if McKellar were nominated, is trying to get McKellar to admit his health is not equal to running again. . . The House of Representatives last week unanimously voted a contempt citation against Henry Gruenwald, the wine-tapper and wire-puller. In contrast, the Senate District of Columbia committee last year ducked a contempt citation. Reason: Senator McCarthy persuaded Republican members of the committee to reverse themselves and go to bat for Gruenwald after he had been linked up with Senator Brewster of Maine in tapping Howard Hughes' telephone wires. Last winter, after President Truman had already invited Judge Justin Miller to be Attorney General, Truman told a friend: "I just feel too sorry for this guy (McGrath). I can't fire him."

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Frequent and heavy rains caused considerable damage to wheat and oats in lowlands and along creeks due to overflows. Otherwise crop prospects were favorable. Temperatures had been seasonal.

R. K. Bardwell was found not guilty of first degree murder in circuit court after being tried for the killing of Claude Wilkerson, Sedalia attorney, on Dec. 27, 1927. The court room scene was a quiet one as the jury returned its verdict of acquittal.

The Osage river was on a rampage and out of its banks at many points between Warsaw and Tuscumbia. Traffic on highway 65 through Warsaw was suspended until the waters subsided.

George Eads, a former police officer here, returned to his home at Muscatine, Iowa, following a visit here.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Sedalia High School glee club presented an operetta, "The Nautical Knot," to a good sized audience. It proved a pleasing attraction.

"A Comparison of the Schools of England and Those of America" was the topic of an address delivered to the Sedalia school teachers at an institute held by Dr. W. C. Morris, head of the physical education department of the Warrensburg Normal.

Steps were taken to discipline certain members of the junior class of the Warrensburg Normal who "egged" of Baltimore, bought the tree and wrote Reid that he would drop around on vacation next summer. He also sent a nice new jacket for the boy.

Two Kinds of People, Neat Ones, Those They Criticize

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (P)—There are only two classes in the world—neat people and the people they criticize.

The thing that always has puzzled me about neat people is their intolerance. They are reformers at heart. They are never satisfied merely with being neat themselves. They want everybody else to be neat, too.

This is a violation of individual rights. A person is as legally free to be disorderly as he is to be neat, so long as he doesn't infringe on the liberty of others.

For my part, I can see more advantages in being disorderly than in being neat. Neatness isn't always a virtue. Most people aren't neat because they really want to be—they just can't help it.

Many neat people have a restless passion to put everything in pigeonholes. They believe there is a place for everything and everything should be in its place. They feel that life is like a bingo game: If they keep putting the right buttons on the right numbers—bingo! The trouble with this theory is life doesn't operate that way. To get the most out of living you have to be a connoisseur of chaos as well as an advocate of order.

There are some situations and experiences you can't solve with a platitude or tag with a label. They don't fit into patterns, and when a neat person is faced with such a situation he is defeated by it—and sometimes destroyed by it.

Life has a wonderful, sprawling, aimless quality that only a disorderly person can appreciate. Take such common things as thunder and lightning. They tend to make a neat person nervous, as he hates to see the sky disrupted. But a good, rousing thunderstorm is a source of poetic joy to the disorderly soul. It brings out the best in him.

The neat man is frustrated from birth, because his goal is impossible—the achievement of complete order. The only really orderly thing in the world is death, and the most disorderly thing is life.

The closer the neat man comes to his goal—that is, the more he catalogs his daily life—the more bored he is likely to become. The disorderly man can never become too bored because he never knows what will happen to him next. When the neat man goes to his desk to get out a letter, he knows in dreary certainty just where he will find it. It is a dull routine. To the disorderly person, however, looking for a letter in the mare's nest atop his desk is a real adventure.

Gingerly, he pokes at the layers of debris that resemble the leaning Tower of Pisa. He paws through old letters and re-reads them. He comes upon some theater ticket stubs and recalls the play. He finds a pair of old socks he thought had been lost.

It may take him half an hour to find the right letter, but meanwhile he's been somewhere. He's lived over a lot of memories had a pleasant little visit into the past. He emerges refreshed by his small voyage of discovery. But where has the neat man been? He's been only to a dry, cold file. He has learned nothing.

I once knew a lady whose secret joy was going through her husband's pockets at night. But she married a neat man. After ten years of utter misery, however, she divorced him, explaining: "He was no fun to live with. Year after year I found exactly the same things in his pockets."

Later she married a thoroughly disorderly man whose pockets resembled a department store hit by a hurricane. "I never knew life could be so exciting," she said, and they lived happily ever after.

Perhaps that is why neat men are so jealous of disorderly men.

TOMBOY BY ED BARCELO

THE STORY: Private Detective George Kendall, retained by the wealthy Albert B. Suitorworth to prevent his daughter's elopement with Max Arno, also known as Chief Big Bear the wrestler, has gone to Big Bear's apartment in Seneca Springs. George misses Arno at his gymnasium, because it is a gymnasium where women take reducing exercises. But he later meets Marilyn, who lives in the same apartment building that Arno does. Verna Denton, George's secretary, believing that George met Arno there and was the victim of foul play, sends police to rescue George. After examinations are made, George reaches Arno on the phone and offers him $10,000 of Suitorworth's money to forget Marilyn. "Drop dead," says Arno.

BACK at the Seneca Springs Hotel, Verna went straight to her room. She hadn't found George's mathematics lecture very exhilarating, and now, she said, she had to catch up on some lost sleep.

Kendall had more important things to do. He checked with the desk first to see if there had been any phone calls for him, but there were none. Maybe Marilyn had forgotten about the call, he thought. Well, it was still early, he told himself, and not yet time to worry.

He mentally reviewed his plan, but he wasn't too certain that it would work. If he couldn't drag Chief Big Bear away from Marilyn, perhaps he could succeed in dragging Marilyn away from Chief Big Bear.

He looked at himself in the mirror and considered his chances. He never in his life would be a lady killer, but he might hold his ground against Arno if Arno weren't too handsome. George's face was pleasant, he decided, dignified, but not restrained. The thing that worried him was that most of Marilyn Suitorworth's heartbeats were of the tomboy athletic type, and in this capacity he fell short of expectations. George was a little too short, a little too slight of build. Still, it was worth a try.

Getting close enough to rival for her affections was going to be a big problem, especially with Chief Big Bear in the picture. And if the Chief got wise, Kendall realized that he might well get on the wrong end of a strange hold.

The important thing was to keep his own emotions in check, but at the same time make Marilyn light up a torch for him. Considering what he had learned from Marilyn's father, the task might not be too difficult. Marilyn let in love at the drop of a hat, her father had said.

But again, there was a possibility that her feelings toward Max Arno might be the more permanent.

ment type. George was not completely denying Verna's belief in true love. But George hoped to be able to kindle Marilyn's affection. She was flighty, unstable and completely unpredictable.

GEORGE KENDALL was in the middle of plans that never seemed to go any place when the room clerk called. There was someone downstairs who wanted to see him.

"Send him up," George ordered. "But first, who is he?" He wondered if it could be Max Arno.

"It is not a he—it is a young woman. A Miss Marilyn Suitorworth."

"I'll be right down," George said. But before he could get away from the phone, there was a knock at the door. He opened it and Marilyn came in.

"Nothing you do surprises me," he said, admiring her black velvet jacket. "How did you know I liked velvet?"

"I looked it up in my trigonometry book," she answered. "Now are you coming out?" I don't really know you well enough to come in."

"Wait a minute," he said. "I'll get my topcoat."

"I suppose you think it's a little bold—my coming up to your room like this, but I was going to phone, only I happened to be in the neighborhood, so here I am."

"And I'm glad you came." He closed and locked the door behind him and hoped that Verna would not hear him leaving. "Are you hungry?" he asked, as they went down the stairs.

"I'm famished," she said, "but then you have to escort me up to my apartment. Max and I are dying to know who's trying to murder you."

He had almost forgotten about this little matter and he did not relish the thought of coming face to face with Max Arno, the man who might try something close to if not short of murder. If Max found out George's mission to Seneca Springs.

But, George decided, he had to meet Max sooner or later. And when Marilyn interlocked her arm in his, George knew that the meeting with Max was inevitably to be that day.

Ideas For A Bridal Shower

By MRS. LYNN RUSSELL
405 Dal-Whi Mo

If it is a linen shower, kitchen shower or bath room shower, your place cards can be made on the same idea only change the design on them.

Make miniature towels cut out of colored cocktail napkins. If there are colored borders so much the better. Fold pairs of these napkins to that they form small towels about an inch and a half in width. Glue these to the base of a place card. On the linen shower cards you can have the monogram of the bride on the towel in colored ink or pencil. On the kitchen towels small outlines of teapots, cups and saucers, etc. in colors. Bath room towels can have the monograms "His" and "Hers" on them.

The idea can be carried out for the bride-to-be to find her gifts. A small stock of these napkins folded as little towels can be placed at the table of the honoree, and inside each one she will find a verse telling her where each gift is hidden.

If it is a personal shower for the bride this same idea may be followed through by making personal articles out of the pastel napkins, (cutting them out) and gluing them to the card. Colored lingerie of all kind could be made.

White and pastel shades of cloths and flower centerpieces are the appropriate thing for showers of brides.

Napkins could be the pastel shades of paper napkins with the bride and bridegroom initials in the corner. If a kitchen shower small colored teapots, cups and saucers, pots and pans would be made on white paper and colored and pasted into a corner of the napkin.

Taft Condemns Truman's Grab Of Steel Mills

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sen. Taft accused President Truman today of endangering the country's freedom and opening the way for any president to make himself a dictator.

The Ohio Republican, seeking his party's nomination for the presidency, said he believed Truman's seizure of the steel mills "is a violation of the constitution."

Taft's remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery here on his campaign tour.

Truman's steel action, he commented, "is in line with his general disregard of the constitution and laws of the United States."

He added:

"It follows the usurpation of the power to make war in Korea. It follows the usurpation of the power to send American soldiers to Korea."

"His action and the precedent thereby set endanger the freedom of this country and make it possible for any president to make himself a dictator if he chooses to do so."

Taft said he did not necessarily rule out seizure as one means of settling a nation-wide labor dispute. He said he included this power in a bill which he introduced in 1949, "but it was carefully spelled out and I have even more doubt today whether it is desirable to grant this power."

"What I object to is the President's assuming the right to seize property when there is no statutory authority whatever for him to do so," Taft said. "If such power exists, no one in the United States can be sure of retaining his liberty against the arbitrary action of the executive branch of the federal government."

Today's A-Blast Seen, Not Felt Nor Heard 75 Mi.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The second blast of the spring atomic series flashed brilliantly at 11:30 a.m. (CST) today at Nevada Proving Grounds.

It was plainly visible in Las Vegas, 75 miles distant, but it was neither felt nor heard here. There were no reports of damage.

The explosion was the 14th at the Atomic Energy Commission test site and unofficially the United States 26th. Observers reported it appeared larger than the blast April 1 which opened the current series.

The nuclear device was dropped from an Air Force plane over Yucca Flat, the AEC announced. Yucca Flat is the northernmost of the two dry lakes the AEC uses for test shots. The April 1 experiment was conducted on Frenchman Flat.

No troops or animals were involved in today's test.

The feature blast of the series comes next week. More than 7,000 Army, Marine and Air Force men are to participate in atomic maneuvers. Newsmen and civilian defense observers have been invited to witness one of the tests.

Feinsinger Defends WSB Acts In Steel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board told questioning senators today the board's recommendations in the steel dispute were "clearly within the board's jurisdiction and authority."

He said that would be clear to "any person taking the trouble to find out."

Feinsinger, under strong fire from many members of Congress for the steel proposals, appeared before the Senate Labor Committee. He said allegations that the board "exceeded its authority and ignored its own regulations" were as far from the truth as anything could be.

He was called to give his opinion on an amendment prepared by Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) to the Taft-Hartley Act making presidential seizure of plants and facilities legal in certain cases.

The bill would give the President clear authority in specific instances to seize plants affected by labor disputes. American industry generally, and many legislators, have condemned the President's seizure of the nation's steel industry a week ago as a "usurpation" of power.

The seizure followed industry's refusal to agree with Wage Board recommendations on pay raises, establishment of the union shop and other proposals acceptable to the CIO Steelworkers who threatened to strike without them.

Feinsinger disclosed in his prepared statement to the committee the six industry members of the Wage Board—there are also six labor and six public members—seriously considered resigning from the board just before the steel dispute was referred to it by President Truman last December.

Technically, the Senate Labor Committee is starting public hearings on a bill covering the President's emergency seizure power in labor disputes, but Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) told a reporter his committee colleagues are certain "to wade into all controversies about the steel industry seizure."

"I don't see how you can keep that out of it," he said, "even though we are not the Supreme Court but just a committee of Congress."

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant who temporarily is running the defense mobilization program, failed to report any progress after his efforts yesterday to get the CIO United Steelworkers and the industry to agree on a new work contract. He said, however, that both sides seemed more interested than before in talking over the deadlocked situation.

Industrial and business leaders from all over the country were called into a closed meeting here today to review the situation. The meeting of 170 businessmen was sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers.

Supreme Court Affirms Ruling In Hoerman Case

In an opinion handed down April 15, the Missouri Supreme Court affirmed a judgment of the Circuit Court of Pettis County finding Anna Hoerman, former guardian of Theo. Hoerman, incompetent, indebted to the Theo. Hoerman estate in the sum of $36,076.30. Under all the facts, the Supreme Court fixed the rate of interest at six per cent instead of eight per cent and otherwise affirmed the judgment.

The case was started by E. R. Knox and the U. S. Veterans Administration, represented by attorneys D. S. Lamm and V. E. Willis, filing exceptions to the final settlement of Anna Hoerman in the Probate Court of Pettis County. Mrs. Hoerman was represented by attorneys H. C. Salvester and F. F. Wesner. Mrs. Hoerman had given bonds totaling $16,000, executed by Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York. The bonding company was represented by T. J. Stubbs.

The Probate Court did not sustain the exceptions and E. R. Knox, successor guardian, and U. S. Veterans Administration appealed to the Circuit Court which sustained the exceptions and entered judgment for the above amount. It was contended that Mrs. Hoerman retained for herself money which belonged to her ward, Theo. Hoerman.

Mrs. Hoerman and the bonding company appealed to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court held the judgment was binding upon the ward and that the amount due from Mrs. Hoerman, and suit will be required on the bonds.

New Killers Replace DDT In Bug Wars

NEW YORK (AP)—Bugs may be in for a rougher time this year.

Some mosquitoes and flies may be getting too smart for DDT but newer killers they aren't yet immune to are being used with deadly aim.

As for the great army of other bugs and pests, their battle with man will be tough. Insects cost at least four billion dollars a year in crop and other damage. But man steadily raises his sights in fighting them.

Rapidly growing insecticide industry expects to hit a 200 million dollar pace this year, three times the volume of its sales 10 years ago. The nation's farmers are expected to use more than ever before.

New insecticides keep coming on the market. Many find a ready sale in various industries, as well as among farmers and livestock and fruit growers, because insects and vermin do millions of dollars of damage in storage places and processing plants.

Another bad break for bugs is that makers of pest-killing agents are not plagued by as many shortages as last year, when the defense program took large quantities of such basic materials as benzene, chlorine and lead. All are in better supply now.

Sulphur is still a problem child, however, and insecticides using it may find sulphur in tight supply throughout the growing season. An example is copper sulphate, a fungicide used by growers of potatoes, grapes and citrus. Shortages of both copper and sulphur may be a problem here.

Another farmer's aid that may be in tight supply this year is 2-4-D weed killer. Government officials say fewer companies are making the eradicator this year than last.

Farm demand for insecticides in general will be nine per cent greater this year, Agriculture Department officials say. Demand for all but a handful of the many insecticides and fungicides will be greater this year, if the farmers produce all the food and fibers that the government is asking.

Proper use of insecticides on livestock would add more than a million quarts of milk annually to the nation's supply, according to Department of Agriculture chemists. They say that beef cattle treated against horn flies average 50 pounds heavier than untreated cattle. Dairy cows protected against horn and stable flies are said to give from 10 to 20 per cent more milk. The livestock industry uses more insecticides each year.

He Gets Refresher Course as Flyer When Pilot Is Shot

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE AIR WING, Korea (AP)—Lt. Frederick K. Purdum, a Marine artillery spotter, got a quick and unexpected refresher course in plotting an aircraft on a recent mission over enemy lines.

Purdum, 29, of Lynchburg, Ky., called the experience the roughest of his 265 missions over Communist territory.

The pilot of Purdum's craft was shot through the leg by a Red weapon. He nearly lost consciousness. The plane went into a dive.

Although he hadn't flown in six years, (he turned in his wings in 1946 to join the ground Marines) Purdum quickly took over the controls in the rear observer's seat of the two-seater plane and righted the ship. He stripped off his belt and handed it to the pilot who managed to strap it around his leg as a tourniquet.

Then Purdum landed the plane.

Noted Criminologist Speaker At Knife and Fork Club Wed.

Members of the Knife and Fork Club will have as their guest of honor at the next meeting of the organization, Captain Jack Harrison, distinguished Chicago criminologist, president of Leonarde Keeler, Inc., former associate of Dr. Keeler, who now owns the controlling stock in the corporation.

According to Don Lamm, the local president, the affair will be held at Hotel Bothwell on Wednesday evening at 7 p. m.

Captain Harrison, who was CID officer on the China-Burma front during World War II, will talk on the theory behind the lie detector and present excerpts from various lie detector cases which will give his audience a look behind the scenes of human behavior.

He will cover cases ranging from juvenile dope rings to international smuggling and murder.

Many times, he will show, the lie detector finds that people accused of wrong doing are entirely innocent.

It was when Captain Harrison was in the Far East that he worked out his successful combination of interrogation techniques while breaking up smuggling rings in China and India.

Guests of Former Sedalians—

Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Waite Return From Panama Trip

Mrs. Harry L. Collins and Mrs. Doretta Waite returned Friday from a vacation in Panama, the award of Mrs. Collins in a recent slogan contest sponsored by the Purepac Corporation, manufacturing chemists.

The flight to Panama was aboard the Braniff's luxurious El Comandante, cruising at 300 miles per hour at 16,000 feet. En route and after arriving at the El Panama Hotel, where they were guests, Mrs. Collins enjoyed the acquaintance of five other contest winners from various states.

Among their many interesting experiences, Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Waite took a trip into the mountainous interior of Panama and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham, a former Sedalian, was a classmate of both Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Waite.

On Saturday the Cunninghams entertained with a fish fry at Balboa. Thirty guests, with Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Waite as honorees, were served a 35 pound Amber Jack, which Mr. Cunningham caught a few days previously while on vacation in Colombia, South America, and which he expertly prepared for the occasion. His role as chef, with Mrs. Cunningham's charm as a hostess, made it an evening never to be forgotten, Mrs. Collins said.

Other points of interest included a visit to the ancient ruins of Old Panama, the national museum and an excursion by railroad across the Isthmus where they went sight-seeing and shopping.

En route home, Mrs. Collins stopped in Kansas City where she visited her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Collins, and saw her first grandchild, James Smarr Collins, who was born April 2 at St. Luke's Hospital. Mrs. Jack Collins was formerly Miss Rose Jean Smarr of Warrensburg.

Quarter of Million Fans to Hear Cry of 'Play Ball' as Major Leagues Start Long Races Toward the Pennants

NEW YORK (P)—A quarter of a million fans in eight cities were expected to jam the ball parks today and listen to the cry of "play ball" as the 1952 major league baseball season got under way.

Despite the loss and impending loss of such topnotch performers as Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Gerry Coleman, Monte Irvin, Willie Mays and others, the new season gives promise of new thrills and excitement.

All clubs will present new faces. Such new names as Billy Reed, Ed Matthews, Toby Atwell, Dave Williams, Bob Del Greco, Dick Hall, Scooter Koshorek, Jim Fridley, Hec Roderick, Jim Rivera, George Schmees, Leo Thomas, Clint Courtney and Ben Taylor were expected to appear in opening day lineups.

Making his managerial bow was Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals. Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns and Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox were back as big league pilots. Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves and Phil Cavaretta of the Chicago Cubs were starting their first full season as managers.

All managers were optimistic, with Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians brashly predicting an American League flag. Manager Charlie Dressen of Brooklyn said his Dodgers ought to win in the National League.

The odds-makers agree with Dressen and Lopez and have installed the Indians and Dodgers as favorites.

Brooklyn is an 8-5 choice while Cleveland is quoted at 9-5 to win the pennant. The Giants and Yankees are second choices, the former at 5-2 and the latter 2-1. Philadelphia and St. Louis are given an outside chance in the National, as are Chicago and Boston in the American.

President Truman, the nation's No. 1 fan, and only switch hurler since William Howard Taft started the presidential pitching custom in 1910, will toss out the first ball in Washington, where the Senators engage the Red Sox.

A crowd of 32,000 expected to see a pitching duel between Mel Parnell (18-11), Boston's premier southpaw, and righthander Bob Porterfield (9-8) of the Nats.

The day's largest crowd of some 52,000, including Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, was expected to attend the Tigers-Browns opener in Detroit. The Veteran Dizzy Trout (9-14) was Detroit's pitching nomination. He was opposed by Ned Garver (20-12).

The Cardinals, who inaugurated the night opener in 1950, again will raise the curtain with an after-dark affair in St. Louis before 20,000.

Truman Tosses Out First Ball In Washington

WASHINGTON (P)—The 1952 major league baseball season officially opens today at exactly 2:57 p. m. (EST).

That's the schedule time for President Truman to throw out the first ball in an American League game between the Boston Red Sox and the Washington Senators.

The starting pitchers: Mel Parnell, who won 18 and lost 11 last year, for the Red Sox; Bob Porterfield, won nine and lost eight, for Washington.

Biggest attractions for the sell-out crowd of 30,000 will be a fancy pre-game show, and Ted Williams, Red Sox outfielder.

Williams goes into the Marines May 2. Many observers think this may be his last appearance in baseball, because they say he will be too old when he gets out.

Everyone is pretty certain how Parnell and Porterfield will pitch. Parnell is a left-hander; Porterfield is right-handed.

Truman, though, presents more of a puzzle. He can pitch (A) with his left hand, (B) with his right hand, or (C) with both.

Since Truman had said he won't try for re-election, this probably will be his last appearance as a presidential pitcher.

All opening games here stress the pre-game shindig and the prancing about of celebrities.

But, maybe surprisingly, some good baseball has been played. For Francis Stann, Washington Evening Star sports columnist, says the greatest opening day game by far was the one played April 13, 1926.

The opening pitchers that cold, bleak day were the great Walter Johnson for the Senators, and that fine knuckleballer, Ed Ruppel, for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Charley Davies, the vice president, threw out the first ball. Johnson and Ruppel were superb. Scoreless inning followed scoreless inning. Finally, in the 15th inning, the Senators scored, to win 1-0.

It was the sixth time that Johnson had won an opening game on a shutout. It was Johnson's 111th shutout in a brilliant career.

Incidentally, the fellow who singled to open the inning and later scored the run is still around. He's Bucky Harris, manager of the Senators.

Bud Wilkinson Signs New 10-Yr. Okla. Pact

OKLAHOMA CITY (P)—Authoritative sources said last night Bud and athletic director of the University of Oklahoma, has signed a new 10-year contract.

Under the guiding hand of Wilkinson, Sooners football teams have dominated the Big Seven Conference. He took over at Oklahoma in 1947, replacing Jim Tatum.

His teams in the last five years have won 46 games and lost six, tying one. In the Big Seven, Wilkinson's well-coached players have not tasted defeat.

The new agreement replaces a previous five-year pact which still had two years to run.

Browns Play At Detroit

DETROIT (P)—Red Rolfe started his fourth American League season as manager of the Detroit Tigers today. And in the back of his mind, although he wouldn't admit it publicly, was the question: Just how well must the Tigers do in 1952 for Red to hold his job?

As the Tigers' Dizzy Trout prepared to pitch against Ned Garver of the St. Louis Browns in today's scheduled opener, most of the experts were picking the Tigers for fourth.

Red knows he faces some worries about the precarious occupation of managing a baseball team if his team finishes lower than fourth.

In the Brownies Rolfe was up against a Bill Veck-made creation that was trying to improve on last year's eighth-place finish. Today's game was expected to draw some 40,000 fans.

The weatherman forecast dry weather, some clouds and a high of 50 degrees.

Wanger Case Quiet Affair Before Judge

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The Walter Wanger shooting case, which Hollywood expected would produce some sizzling courtroom testimony, goes to court today—but there'll be no sensations.

Prosecution and defense attorneys agreed yesterday to let Superior Judge Harry Borde decide the 37-year-old producer's fate on the basis of testimony before the grand jury.

The county grand jury indicted Wanger, one of Hollywood's most respected moviemakers, last Dec. 18 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Five days earlier in a Beverly Hills parking lot, while his wife, actress Joan Bennett, looked on, Wanger shot her agent, Jennings Lang, 39. Lang was seriously wounded in the groin but is now up and around. Wanger said he did it because Lang "broke up my home." Miss Bennett and Lang said their relationship was strictly business.

Wanger, who if convicted could be sentenced to from one to 14 years in prison, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of temporary insanity. His attorney, ace criminal lawyer Jerry Giesler, said yesterday the insanity plea would be withdrawn. He added that he will plead with the court to reduce the charge to assault with a deadly weapon, a lesser offense for which the penalty would probably be a jail sentence.

There have been numerous reports recently that the movie industry, seeking to avoid scandal, has exerted pressure on the principals to play down the trial.

Giesler said Wanger decided to "throw himself on the mercy of the court" to avoid a lurid trial for the sake of the children involved. Wanger and Miss Bennett have two and the Langs have two.

Food Shortage Talk May Spur Budget Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Appropriations Committee's prediction of a national food shortage by 1955 may spur a drive in Congress to increase the 1953 Agriculture Department budget.

Leaders of the House farm-state delegation said today they may use the committee forecast as a lever to try to pry more money out of the house when the budget bill is considered.

Terry Moore Given Divorce From Davis

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Terry Moore, 22, won a divorce from football star Glenn Davis after testifying that he was stingy, shabby, called her a liar, derided her acting, insulted her friends, and drove a car too fast.

Davis, 27, former West Point all-American now with the Los Angeles Rams, didn't contest the suit. Miss Moore, 22, testified yesterday he kept her in "a constant state of turmoil" during the two months and 25 days they lived together.

Bob Thomas In Hollywood--

Wendell Corey Gets New Faith In US by Serving on a Jury

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It gave me a whole new faith in the democratic process," that's Wendell Corey's reaction after serving as an ordinary citizen on jury duty.

Actor Corey created a stir in the Los Angeles Civic Center recently by reporting to serve on juries. No one could remember a Hollywood notable having appeared for jury service. Corey performed his duties without fuss and without press agent.

"If I had wanted to, there were 500 ways I could have gotten out of it," he remarked. "But I thought it would be a worthwhile experience. And it was. I was very impressed with the care and intelligence that my fellow jurors exercised in reaching a verdict."

"A lot of people make jokes about the 'housewife jury.' Well, I can tell you there's nothing wrong with housewives as jurors. I know, because I served with 10 of them on a murder trial. They were very serious about the whole thing, and they were not swayed by sentiment."

"If anything, they were tougher than the men. They felt an urge to protect the home; if the defendant was guilty of a crime, they wanted the punishment to be the maximum."

Corey explained that he had postponed the jury call for 15 months, because his movie and television jobs would not permit serving the jury.

Mother and I of Her 9 Children. Freed From Killing Husband-Dad

JONESBORO, Ark., April 15—The Craighead county grand jury yesterday freed a pregnant mother and one of her nine children from first degree murder charges.

A no true bill was returned in the case of Mrs. Velma Ardner, 32, and her oldest son, Claud Jr., 14. They had been charged with murder in the fatal shooting of the husband and father, Claud Ardner.

Ardner was shot to death as he slept at the family's cash, Ark., home last Jan. 2. Mrs. Ardner said her husband repeatedly beat her and the children and had threatened to kill her. Claud Jr. was accused of reloading the death rifle for his mother to fire a second shot.

Mrs. Ardner is expecting the birth of a tenth child any day.

Japs Clear Homma Whom Yanks Hanged For His Atrocities

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today cleared the name of Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, who was hanged by the Allies for atrocities in the Philippines.

Homma, wartime Japanese commander-in-chief at Manila, was included in the latest list of 374 former militarists and war criminals restored to full civil status by the government.

The action by independence-conscious Japan does not necessarily mean a challenge of the Allied court that condemned Homma. The government said it considers Homma innocent of crimes against the Filipino people because he "took orders from above as a serviceman."

Coal Industry Signs Pact; Set for Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nation's soft coal producers, preparing for their expected 1952 wage battle with John L. Lewis, have quietly signed an industry pact which draws management's defense lines tighter. It was learned today.

The Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, principal bargaining group for the industry, has signed up most of the Indiana and Illinois soft coal producers. These operators have long held aloof from joining the national bargaining group, choosing to take their own contract chances with the United Mine Workers' boss.

The coal industry, alerted by government seizure of the steel mills and what it considers exorbitant government wage recommendations for Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers, believes its new agreement will give it a great deal more resistance to Lewis' traditional divide-and-conquer strategy.

The new pact boosts the association's annual tonnage on the basis of 1951 production, to about 240 million tons of soft coal, roughly 56 per cent of the total soft coal produced by Lewis' miners.

The association is headed by Harry M. Moses, a former official of U.S. Steel Corp. He is regarded as the top bargaining figure on the industry side and one of the few men who can deal with Lewis on an even-temper basis.

Lewis, just back from a Florida vacation, has been sitting on his 1951 contract ever since Feb. 1, 1951, in an accident on Highway 10 near the Jackson County line in Johnson County, Jerrell was the driver of a car involved in an accident with a truck driven by Weide.

The contract is now on a continuous 60-day extension basis. This means it can be ended by either side, subject to 60 days' notice.

Taft Wants 15 Million Cut From Military, Foreign Aid Budgets

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft says 15 billion dollars should be slashed from the administration's budget for military and foreign aid appropriations.

The Ohio Senator, who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, also says the administration is using the wrong methods to oppose Communist threats.

In his second Connecticut appearance in six weeks, Taft last night told 1,000 Republicans that the United States should maintain a powerful air force which could strike at Russia successfully with atom bombs if necessary.

He asserted that the U.S. "cannot fight Russia on every far-flung point" where it "may choose to start an aggressive war."

During the ice and snow months, highway accident rates increase from 24 to 33 per cent.

"I feel happier, younger now, not constipated," writes Detroit man. "Eating your ALL-BRAN does so much for me. What wonderful relief, after so many pills and medicines." If you can't keep regular because of lack of diet-bulk, try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and see if it doesn't help you regain youthfulness as thousands have.

It's the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need... it's not habit-forming. Rich in iron, high in cereal protein, provides essential B and D vitamins. ## Catholic Order Will Withdraw Nuns Who Serve Public Schools

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A Catholic order has decided to withdraw nuns serving as teachers in several Missouri public schools.

Withdrawal notices were received by school board members of the St. Thomas and St. Martins districts near here.

It was not learned immediately whether nuns would be withdrawn from other public schools in the state also, but at least two other districts received similar notices.

Mother Evangelina, head of the St. Louis provincial office of the Sisters of Notre Dame, sent the notifications to the board members but gave no reason. She could not be reached for comment last night.

The nun-teacher issues has resulted in two lawsuits in which the plaintiffs contend paying Catholic nuns to teach in public schools violates federal and state Constitutions, which require separation of church and state. Both cases are awaiting decisions in Missouri courts.

Sedalian Files $15,000 Damage Suit In Death Of Husband In Wreck

A $15,000 damage suit for wrongful death was filed in the Johnson County Circuit Court at Warrensburg Monday by Eva Mae Jerrell of Sedalia against Fred Weide of Pittsburg.

The plaintiff seeks to recover for the death of her husband, Virgil Jerrell, who was killed April 17, 1951, in an accident on Highway 10 near the Jackson County line in Johnson County. Jerrell was the driver of a car involved in an accident with a truck driven by Weide.

Immigration Coal Out

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Australian Minister for Immigration, H. E. Holt, has announced a 50,000 cut in Australia's earlier goal of 200,000 immigrants a year. The new goal of 150,000 new settlers a year represents an increase of 17,000 over the number of immigrants who actually came to Australia last year.

Fears of unemployment, he said, had caused a recent revival of the view that migration should be suspended, although job offerings had increased with immigration until its peak in 1950 when 175,000 settlers came to Australia.

The Azores consist of nine volcanic islands.

Entries Pile Up for Royal Dairy Show

With the American Royal Dairy Cattle Show and Rodeo about a month away entries, representing the best in dairy cattle, are multiplying at the Royal headquarters in Kansas City.

The annual spring Royal will be held from May 4 to May 10. This date is close behind most of the district, county and parish dairy shows in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma — the meets which determine the contestants for the culminating show in Kansas City.

The American Royal building is going to have its face lifted before the show, Bill Preston, secretary-manager, said.

"There will truly be a new look in spring shows this year — new acts, new decorations, new booths — a new show," Preston said.

Harry Darby, president of the American Royal Association, expressed particular enthusiasm over the rodeo at a meeting of show officials.

"We have the best in the business entered in the rodeo this year," Darby said. "There are a lot of new features which are proving to be drawing cards. In addition, the Royal always has one outstanding feature for rodeo spectators — the arena is ideal for such a spectacle. The spectators in all sections of the arena are close to the action — nothing is missed."

Farmers Busy When Weather Lets Them Work

By Mrs. Harold Conway

HUGHESVILLE — The farmers are busy, between rains and drying of land, fertilizing and sowing oats. Meeting a farmer who has been fertilizing the ground, you fail to recognize the oat crop will be late.

Edwin Hemphill, Carthage, spent the past week with his father, George Hemphill.

Harold Wiley, Kansas City, brother of Jim Wiley, Mrs. Art Martin and Mrs. Con Scott, underwent a serious operation last Saturday in a Kansas City hospital. He is reported as doing nicely.

Miss Barbara Conway, Albany, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Conway. Mac and Das Conway and Dale Smith, students at Missouri University, spent the Easter holidays at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beatty and son, Blue Springs, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. Mr. Beatty is athletic coach at Blue Springs and was formerly superintendent and coach of Hughesville schools.

Warren Smith, stationed in the east in service, has a furlough and is spending Easter at home.

The Rev. Denver Moore has recently returned from Puxico, Mo., where he visited his parents. His father has been seriously ill.

It is estimated that the United States uses about 28 million commercial Christmas trees a year.

Barkley May Walk Today Into a Race

WASHINGTON (P) — President Truman and other fans at the opening baseball game here today may get a "tip" for what it's worth—on whether Vice President Barkley is a candidate for president or vice president.

"If the Veep sets a stiff pace out to the flagpole and back then it's a good bet he's a candidate again," one Democratic party leader solemnly assured a reporter.

While Truman sits in the stands to pitch out the first ball, Barkley, who will be 75 Nov. 24, will lead a march of more than 400 feet to the flag pole for flag-raising ceremonies.

With Barkley, who says he feels better and does more work now than he did 40 years ago, will be 82-year-old Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, and other baseball dignitaries.

Ever since Truman announced March 29 he will not be a candidate again, friends of Barkley have been pressing him to join the open scramble for the presidential nomination.

Barkley has thanked them publicly but has made no announcement of his plans.

One Democratic party leader said Barkley wants to be absolutely certain that Truman and other administration leaders are not pushing some other Democrat, such as Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois or W. Averell Harriman, presidential assistant on foreign aid programs.

This source said that as soon as Barkley personally feels certain of this he will toss his hat into the ring.

So far the most active candidates are Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Since announcing he was not a candidate, Truman has told his news conferences he does not plan to attend the national convention or try to influence its actions.

Barkley supporters and Washington politicians generally are doubtful about a report yesterday by the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Daily News that House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas would be the administration candidate, with Barkley nominating Rayburn at the convention.

This report said the decision was reached at a White House conference attended by Barkley.

In 25 Seconds Truce Routine Is Continued

MUNSAN (P)—Korean truce supervision negotiators met for 25 seconds today—just long enough to run through their pat routine of the past week—no business.

Meanwhile, the time for resuming crucial talks on prisoner exchange still was up in the air. Peiping radio said last night the U.N. Command had advised the Reds it was not ready to take up again the conferences on how to exchange prisoners of war.

The Reds proposed Sunday that the talks be resumed. These were recessed April 4 to permit both sides to work separately on possible solutions.

The Reds had insisted on forced repatriation of prisoners. The Allies demanded the right of choice for each prisoner.

There has been some indication the two parties in off-the-record meetings prior to April 4 worked out a secret formula for exchanging prisoners and that the Allies are reworking their list of prisoners to bring it in line with the formula.

The two truce supervision issues—Russia's role in post-armistice Korea and the question of rebuilding North Korean military airfields—are considered open to solution once agreement is reached on the critical prisoner exchange problem.

The Allies want a ban on military airfield reconstruction and oppose Red nomination of Russia as a neutral truce observer.

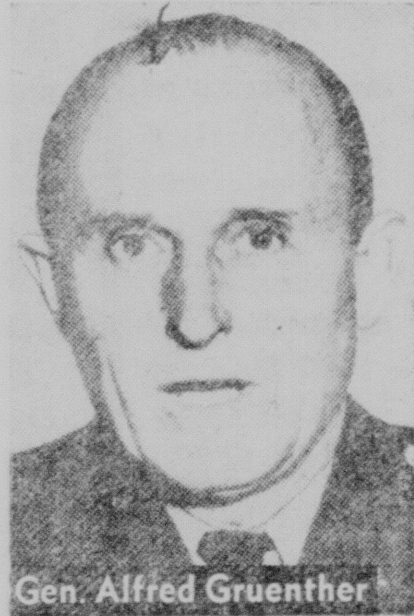

The last five meetings on truce supervision have taken up four minutes in all.

10 THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Tues., April 15, 1952

Gen. Alfred Gruenther
General Eisenhower's Chief of Staff

Gen. Mark Clark
Chief of Army Field Forces

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower
Supreme Commander of European Defense

Gen. Matthew Ridgway
UN Commander in Far East

EISENHOWER SHIFT?—Although General Gruenther, General Eisenhower's NATO chief of staff, has been considered a prime choice to take over Ike's job in Europe, it is now reported that General Ridgway may get the job. In that case, General Gruenther might take over Gen. Mark Clark's post as Chief of Army Ground Forces and General Clark would get Ridgway's Far Eastern command.

Ike as General Almost Public Idol; Unknown as Politico

WASHINGTON (P)—The record of Eisenhower the general was so distinguished that in the military field he is practically a public monument.

But in his new role as Eisenhower the politician he still has to state his case.

While he was still in this country, in uniform as a soldier or in civilian as president of Columbia University, he did not arouse any widely outspoken antagonisms for anything he said.

Actually, anything he's said to date, except in foreign affairs, has been in the most general terms and not at all specific. This is understandable because of his position.

Since he said he wasn't a candidate for anything, he wasn't under compulsion to take a flat-footed stand on any domestic issue.

And he would not have been the only one to consider it inconsistent with his job as commander of the Atlantic Pact army if he issued bulletins from his Paris headquarters on American labor, farming, Korea, China, finance or taxes.

He indicated his sensitivity about making political speeches in uniform when he said Saturday he'd resign from the Army, if nominated by the Republican convention, so he would be "free to speak like any other citizen, on any subject."

As a soldier Eisenhower has enjoyed sunny weather, which is quite different from the political climate where it rains dead cats and you get blamed as fast for what you didn't do as for what you did.

He got a taste of this last night from a fellow Republican, Sen. Welker of Idaho, who so far hasn't come out in support of anyone but said he might support the general if he knew where he stood.

Welker said: "It is hard to believe the Republican party is going to consider the nomination of a man whose views on all public issues are vague. . . ."

This at least was a nudge to the general that the days are coming to an end when—as a non-candidate for anything—he could enjoy the luxury of not having to be specific on affairs at home.

He returns about June 1. The Republican convention, which may nominate him for President, opens July 7. Except for a speech at Abilene, Kan., he says he has no plans between the date of his return and the convention opening.

But unless, and until, he's nominated, he'll be in the Army. If he follows until then his past policy of not getting into domestic controversies, the convention will not know where he stands on a host of issues.

If, nevertheless, it nominates him, it will be doing so on his personality, his record as a military leader and diplomat extraordinary, and in the belief he could win, but not on his clearly expressed ideas for running the country.

Asian-African Nations Want UN Meet Now

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—Asian-African nations pushed today for an emergency session of the United Nations General Assembly in the wake of Western refusal to let the Security Council take up a complaint against France's treatment of Tunisia.

The council's Western majority refused last night to admit for discussion the 11-nation charge that France is oppressing her North African protectorate, in which more than 100 persons have died this year in riots sparked by nationalist demands for more self-rule.

It was one of the rare occasions in which the council had turned down a member's request to discuss a complaint.

Asia-African authors of the charges against France, anticipating the defeat, already had called their governments to ask if they wanted a special assembly. Affirmative replies were expected to pour in and there were strong indications the group could rally the 31 U.N. members necessary to call the session.

The move to put the Tunisian complaint on the council agenda mustered only five affirmative votes, both for the original Pakistan proposal for the discussion and for a Chilean compromise that would have listed the complaint but held off any debate until France showed whether she was carrying out promised reforms.

The motions needed seven votes for adoption. The yeas came from Pakistan, the only council member of the 11 complaining nations, China, Russia, Brazil and Chile. France and Britain cast the negative votes and the United States, Greece, Turkey and The Netherlands abstained.

Emphasizing that she spoke only as a private citizen, the former first lady said she thought the U.S. position violated a traditional American policy of supporting full U.N. airing of all complaints.

U.S. delegates said previously they thought council discussion of the complaint might disturb negotiations which France says she will hold with the Tunisians.

Tank Task Force Kills 300 Reds, Lays Land Bare

SEOUL, Korea (P)—A powerful United Nations tank force killed or wounded 300 Chinese Reds Monday in a furious bombardment of Communist lines on the Central Korean Front, the U.S. Eighth Army announced.

Eighth Army said the tanks, firing from no-man's land southwest of Kumsong, destroyed or damaged 99 Red bunkers, a field gun, 16 buildings, 39 trenches and 16 gun emplacements. The Communists fought back with 300 artillery and mortar shells and machine-gun fire. Allied infantrymen early Tuesday retook a hill east of the Pukhan River on the Central Front two hours after they were pushed off by 400 Chinese Reds.

As the Reds swarmed up the hill, Communist artillery opened up with a 500-shell barrage. The Allied troops battled in close combat, but pulled back from the hill just after midnight and called for their own artillery.

Allied guns and mortars shelled the hill and the infantry recaptured the position at 2 a.m.

Girl Gets Arms Given To Her by Shriners

COLUMBUS, O. (P)—Eleven-year-old Joann McCarthy kept swinging her new artificial arm, and smiling at how natural they look.

Joann, adopted daughter of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Orville McCarthy of Columbus, was born without arms.

The ones a Shriners group gave her yesterday have hands for appearance or hooks for utility. Joann must learn to operate the hooks with her back muscles.

That shouldn't be hard for a girl who learned to do most everything with her toes—even threading a needle and feeding herself.
